New residents will quickly discover the rewards of living in a township: superior services delivered at economical rates and leadership that is responsive to citizen needs. Residents often say the absence of excessive regulations and government red tape is refreshing.

A board of three elected officials, called trustees, and an elected fiscal officer govern township matters. Operating under a "Limited Home Rule" form of government, the township has increased flexibility to deliver services within the simple form of township government to the end of protecting citizens, enhancing the community's viability and increasing opportunities for work and play.

Township trustees are proactive leaders who welcome comments from community residents. Trustees usually meet the first and third Thursday of each month in Anderson Center. Meetings are open to the public and can be accessed later on the township's website.

PRECEDENT-SETTING INITIATIVE
PROTECTS THE TOWNSHIP'S
ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH

CAREFULLY PRESERVED

GREENSPACE

The Anderson Township Greenspace program continues as a point of much community pride and serves as a model for other Ohio townships.

Residents hike these natural areas, exploring beautiful wooded hillsides and vistas overlooking both the Ohio and Little Miami rivers. These preserved properties help to provide cleaner air and water for the township and promote biodiversity that is critical for a healthy community.

Anderson Township was once a lightly populated rural community known for its orchards and sweeping river views. Change came quickly in the 1960s, when a period of rapid residential and commercial growth transformed this quiet community into today's thriving suburb with 44,000 residents.

The program preserves and protects 72 parcels of property totaling nearly 780 acres. Parcels range in size from less than a quarter acre to more than 109 acres. There are 21 parcels that each exceed 10 acres in size.

In November 1995, Anderson Township residents approved a renewal of the Greenspace tax levy. In 2000, this tax levy was allowed to expire, as affordable properties were harder to find. However, through good stewardship of the tax funds allocated to this program, some money is still available for buying properties. One hundred eighty-four acres have been acquired since 2016 alone.

+ Protected Greenspace locations are dispersed all around the township and can be found by visiting AndersonTownshipOH.gov, which contains information about the program's history, acquisition criteria, use and maintenance policies, a map with Greenspace parcel locations and FAQs.

In the late 1980s, during a period of growth, Anderson Township residents and officials took steps to preserve the natural character of the community. With bill language written by Anderson Township, and the prodding of its trustees, state officials passed House Bill 717 that allowed townships to acquire land to be preserved in its natural state. In November 1990, voters passed a levy to support a Greenspace program. That year, Anderson Township became the first Ohio township to adopt a Greenspace program under this bill.

TRAILS

AN ENJOYABLE WAY TO CONNECT THE COMMUNITY

Anderson Township is proud of its popular trails program which has resulted in more than 25 miles of sidewalks and paths for the enjoyment, convenience and non-vehicular transportation needs of its residents.

Since 1993, the township has undertaken an aggressive campaign to build its signature Anderson Trails program. Once a traditional suburban community heavily relying on vehicular transportation, Anderson now is known as a community of neighborhoods, schools, parks, business areas and other destinations woven together through its heavily-used trails network. The spine of this network is the award-winning Five Mile Trail.

Voted "Best of the East Exercise Trail" from a local magazine, the trail serves as the virtual center of the network that connects east to west.

Connections made in the past 25 years provide thousands of households with a direct link to the trails network and destinations in the heart of the township such as Beechmont Avenue, Anderson Center and Anderson Towne Center, or shopping, schools, and other locations.

The township has focused on the verifiable health benefits for "active transportation" (walking and riding bikes) as part of the transportation system. Connector paths also encourage a sense of community and allow children freedom to ride to school and other destinations.

Wooded paths on the Five Mile Trail provide a 2.5-mile connection linking the Turpin High School area to popular Anderson amenities, including Anderson Center, the Anderson Towne Center and ultimately to the Beechmont business corridor. More than $10 million in grants has facilitated building pivotal links on Asbury, State, Nagel, Paddision and Wolfangel roads, as well as Beechmont Avenue and Five Mile, and the Ohio River and Little Miami trails.

In the Entertainment District, Anderson is joined to the 14-mile Ohio River Trail project to the west, in Cincinnati, to Lunken Airport and Downtown. This trail section connects the township's riverfront destinations to Greater Cincinnati's regional network.

On the northern side of the township, along with Great Parks and the City of Cincinnati, the Little Miami Scenic Trail has been completed through the township and recently expanded with the Elstun Connector. It now links the Little Miami Golf Center over the Little Miami Scenic River to Lunken Airport and Otto Armleder Park. This new trail link joins the Skytop area of Anderson, near Beechmont Avenue and Mt. Washington, to these regional multi-use trails.

ANDERSON TOWNSHIP IS ECO-RESPONSIBLE

Anderson Township's commitment to recycling benefits both the environment and the community.

Each year Anderson emerges as a recycling leader and has been recognized by Hamilton County with the "Best Township Recycling Rate."

This funding supports several activities such as the township's litter cleanup and recycling program.

RECYCLING

There are several convenient ways to recycle materials in Anderson Township. Curbside pickup is available with weekly garbage pickup, with certain limitations.

With its numerous restaurants connected by an attractive, walkable streetscape, the award-winning Shoppes at Anderson Towne Center development is a central point in the community. Located at Beechmont and Wolfangel, the center is connected to the Five Mile Trail and adjacent to beautiful Anderson Center, the township’s signature civic, government and arts facility.

Anderson Towne Center’s options have grown in recent years to include greater choices in dining, health, fitness, and beauty retailers and entertainment options.

Anderson’s Beechmont Avenue business district provides a convenient mix of nationally-branded restaurants and local apparel and accessory boutiques within walking distance of many households. Neighborhood shopping districts have benefited from recent pedestrian upgrades and infrastructure improvements such as those along Clough Pike and Salem Road.

THOUGHTFUL ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

BEECHMONT DEVELOPMENT

The heart of the Anderson business district is the Beechmont Corridor, which runs from Mt. Washington to the Clermont County line.

Safety and convenience for both shoppers and drivers have been significantly increased in recent years through projects birthed from the award-winning Beechmont Corridor Plan. Implementation of the plan, initially created by Anderson Township Trustees and the Anderson Area Chamber of Commerce, relies on a large group of entities undertaking many tasks. Those moving parts include inter-agency cooperation, private redevelopment, and the efforts of the township, Ohio Department of Transportation, and federal, state and local entities to continue to advance safety. Traffic flow, expanded safety reforms and economic vitality of the corridor have been targeted by Anderson Township trustees for investment. Significant safety, traffic flow, beautification and mobility improvements have created a better Beechmont.

The plan's upgrades include new sidewalks, decorative walls and pedestrian plazas with handicapped ramps at key intersections. Add in the trees and landscaping previously introduced along the corridor, with wayfinding signage, and residents and visitors alike have noted the drive down Beechmont is more pleasing and easier to navigate.

These improvements have not only greatly improved traffic flow and safety, but the area has benefited from improved economic vitality and ease for all transportation modes. From ongoing aesthetic and access improvements to enhanced guidelines for the style of new development, the future of Beechmont Avenue and our community that it serves, is bright!

SURROUNDING PROJECTS

Investments are not limited to the community's core. Recommendations within the Comprehensive Plan coordinate and guide public and private investment throughout the township from recreational improvements along the Little Miami River to dramatic gateway and streetscape improvements along Kellogg Avenue and strengthening of the township's entertainment area and the nearby Riverbend redevelopment. In between, public investment along heavily travelled corridors such as Five Mile Road, Salem Road and Clough Pike has instilled a vibrancy and renewed focus to these important neighborhood business districts.

Recent projects include the creation of a community art plan and continued expansion of the popular Anderson Trails program.

ENHANCING HOUSING OPTIONS

To encourage this positive momentum and advance the recommendations of the Anderson Township Comprehensive Plan, the township realigned several of its long-standing citizen committees into the Anderson Plan Implementation Committee. This committee, working with staff, has been focused on realizing the goals and initiatives of the citizen-based planning studies. At the same time, there has been a continued land use planning effort to encourage greater diversity in housing opportunities.

The results are noticeable. The township has welcomed several new apartment communities, senior housing developments, and subdivisions ranging from patio homes through large estate offerings, to help address all stages of residents' needs.

CHAMBER SERVES BUSINESSES, COMMUNITY

Since 1970, the Anderson Area Chamber of Commerce has been serving the business community in Anderson Township, Mt. Washington, Newtown, and western Clermont. The chamber serves as the essential hub for area businesses, ensuring the delivery of resources and connections that help our members succeed and thrive.

In addition to providing essential networking, community connections, marketing and discounted business services to members, the Chamber hosts signature events throughout the year. The Annual Awards Ceremony honors local business leaders, educators, students, and individual volunteers for their outstanding service and dedication.

ASTUTE STRATEGIES INFORM TOWNSHIP'S PROGRESS

Anderson Township is an ideal location in which to do business. With easy access to highway transportation, strong demographics and a community committed to economic growth, large and small companies alike have found the area a desirable location for their investment developments. The result is a more dynamic mix of quality businesses and services, strengthening the perceived center of the township to create a more vibrant and up-to-date community.

FOCUSED INVESTMENT

HISTORY

Anderson Township is a community focused on the future, yet connected to its pioneer past. For most of its history, Anderson more closely resembled its early farming settlements rather than the suburban community of today.

This well-watered, fertile land has been the home to people since the last glacier receded nearly 14,000 years ago. The cultures that lived on this land for thousands of years left earthworks, mounds, large enclosure walls and evidence of villages that fascinate us today.

The earliest settlers to arrive in the southeastern Hamilton County area landed at the confluence of the west bank of the Little Miami River and the Ohio River. In 1788 Major Benjamin Stites established a settlement of two dozen log cabins connected with a stockade fence to two blockhouses. After a couple of years of flooding, some of those settlers moved farther down the Ohio River to a plateau above the Ohio River opposite the Licking River.

Two years later, the first permanent fortified settlement in Anderson Township was created: Garard/Martin Station on the eastern shore of the Little Miami farther upstream from Columbia.

A historic marker close to the spot where the station was situated denotes that moment in time. It is located on Elstun Road off Beechmont Avenue.

This untamed area became home for people seeking property ownership and a better life. For them, the Ohio River Valley was considered a prime location in the new land of opportunity. In the spring of 1793, the area became the first township (of Hamilton County) and was named after Richard Clough Anderson, surveyor of the area's Virginia Military District.

Other familiar names that live on today in the community derive from the earliest pioneers. The first settler in nearby Mt. Washington was Stephen Sutton. Ichabod Benton Miller was one of the first to live in the Clough-Newtown area. His home, now known as the Miller-Leuser Log House, is a well-known historical landmark on Clough Pike. Built in late 1795, it was used as a residence until 1968. It was purchased by the Anderson Township Historical Society in 1971 and is maintained by the dedicated volunteers of the Historical Society, who offer tours of the property on the first and third Sundays, from May through October, and by special arrangement.

New settlers made their way here after 1795, enjoying an area boasting fertile farmland and enticing waterways. While there was plenty of land, the area's population remained relatively small and stable throughout the 1800s. Most township residents were farmers whose orchards and farmlands dominated the area.

By the 1900s, the early Parkers Grove became Coney Island, a popular place for family outings and picnickers. Throngs of park visitors arrived on various boats including the Island Queen sidewheeler steamboat from downtown Cincinnati. The nearby California area riverfront also gained in popularity as rail service ran through the township in the early 1900s.

Modest growth continued through the early 20th century. When the new Beechmont levee was completed in the 1950s, the township entered a period of growth as it became easier commute to downtown from Anderson. The completion of I-275 in December 1979, including the Combs-Hale Bridge over the Ohio River, furthered this population increase. Between 1950 and 1985, the population quadrupled. Today's population is approximately 44,000 residents.

ANDERSON URBAN FARM

The Anderson Urban Farm is one of the last undeveloped farm properties in Anderson Township. Owned by the Anderson Township Historical Society, this peaceful 10-acre property sits on Bartels Road between Turpin High School and Clough Pike. The farm hosts a community garden, festivals, educational programs and a variety of events throughout the year. A renovated red barn is the center of the historic property, a symbol of a bygone era.

JAMES CLARK STONE HOUSE

Pioneer James Clark was one of the township's early inhabitants and entrepreneurs. When he arrived in the peaceful Clough Creek area in the late 1700s, he built a formidable eight-room stone house that still stands today at the corner of Clough Pike and Hunley Road. The James Clark Stone Home is likely the oldest standing stone house in southwest Ohio and was inhabited into the 1990s. The building is owned by Anderson Township and received an Ohio Historical Marker in 2018.

HISTORIC SALEM METHODIST CHURCH CAMPUS

Salem Methodist Church was established by Francis McCormick, a preacher who came to Ohio from Kentucky because he disliked slavery and the distilling of whiskey. In 1805 he and his friends moved to Anderson Township and established a little village he called Salem (and others called McCormick's Settlement) to bring Methodism to the Northwest Territory. They built a large log dwelling partly used for religious services.

Several buildings came after it to house the congregation. McCormick Hall, which was built as a school building, stands east of the church today. The school was School District No. 5. In 1863, a frame church building was constructed, which was the fourth home of the Salem Methodist Church. Today the historic building houses the Freedom City Church congregation.

DISCOVER ANDERSON'S HERITAGE

FIVE MILE CHAPEL

A scenic piece of Anderson Township's history is found in the beautiful stone Five Mile Chapel, on Five Mile Road, tucked away behind trees on the banks of Five Mile Creek. The chapel, which has no congregation, is cared for by the Five Mile Chapel Society, Inc., a group of residents who preserve and maintain this non-denominational facility.

Built in 1844, the chapel was one of the first United Brethren in Christ churches built in the area. It was in continuous use until 1963, when it was donated to the Five Mile Chapel Society. The society today rents it for religious services, weddings, baptisms and special events.

MILLER-LEUSER LOG HOUSE

One of the most obvious and noted links to Anderson Township's historic pioneer past is the Miller-Leuser Log House, at the corner of Bartels Road and Clough Pike. Thousands of people drive past this cabin each day, unaware that this structure is more than 200 years old, having been built in about 1795 or 1796.

Today, the cabin is host to curious area residents who visit almost every week. Scout troops and student groups often tour the two-story dwelling and learn about the artifacts within the home, while they check out the barn, the corn crib and outhouse. The home was listed on the National Register of Historic Places in 1974 and received an Ohio Historical Marker in 2011.
